

📄 'The small print'...

Even a privately organised trip like this one has to comply with 'rules and regulations', health & safety, etc., as well as having 'terms and conditions', booking forms and the like; the organiser wishes to thank everyone for their understanding.

Passengers acknowledge that the trip is at their own risk, having assessed all financial, health, security and related risks, and duly indemnify the organiser from any loss, claim or action that may arise from taking part in the trip / activity.

All timings are for guide purposes and the organiser reserves the right to change the advertised itinerary (without compensation) should circumstances dictate.

Meals and refreshment breaks (except breakfast at the hotel) are not included in the price. Entry to all CWGC cemeteries, memorials and visitor centres on the WW1 battlefields is free, whilst museums and other 'attractions' are not.

THE SOMME

Mention the First World War and the battle that is still deeply implanted in the folk-memory of the British people is the Battle of the Somme. Back in 1916 the Somme was the first battle to involve the bulk of Britain's first-ever mass citizen army, being uniquely composed of volunteers from all levels of society. The character was symbolised by its 'Pals' battalions, like those from East Lancashire, and the Accrington and Chorley area in particular - made up of friends, neighbours and workmates who invariably joined up together, in response to Kitchener's appeal.

The Battle of the Somme lasted 142 days but the first day, on the 1st July 1916, was to become the bloodiest twenty-four hours in the history of the British Army. The modest gains on that day, across a 19 mile front stretching from Serre in the north to Montauban in the south, cost the British 19,240 men killed and 35,493 wounded. Whole 'Pals' battalions were virtually wiped out in minutes. Its impact in across the country was devastating, and in Accrington it was said there was not a street or family that did not know someone who was a casualty.

The 1st July 1916 saw thousands of untried troops going 'over the top' to attack the heavily entrenched German positions. For virtually everyone it was their first action... for many it was to be their last. Whilst the focal point of the trip may well be the 'Accrington Pals' memorial and adjacent plaque to the Chorley Pals in the trenches at Serre, the aim is to show other aspects of the Somme battlefield.

Day 1 (Friday, 27th May) - Lunchtime pick-up in Lancashire, travelling to Hull for the overnight ferry to Zeebrugge (en-suite cabin included, meals extra).

Day 2 (Saturday, 28th May) - After breakfast *, travel direct to the Somme battlefield and to the Thiepval with its impressive memorial and visitor centre. We move to Pozières to view the battlefield from the German observation post the British called 'Gibraltar'. A short journey takes us to La Boisselle and the Lochnager Crater. After a lunch break in Albert, we visit the grave of a Lancashire VC winner and then on to Devonshire Trench, a cemetery on the British front line. The last major stop of the day is at Delville Wood before viewing some monuments and bunkers on the battlefield, on the way back to our hotel in Arras.

Day 3 (Sunday, 29th May) - after breakfast (included in tour price), check-out of the hotel and head for the Accrington and Chorley Pals trenches at Serre for an extended stay. Next stop is the Sunken Lane front line trench before a guided tour around the trenches and No Man's Land in Newfoundland Park at Beaumont Hamel. A lunch break is taken at the Ulster Tower near-by before viewing the Tank memorial at Pozières and the Butte-de-Warlencourt - the furthest point the British troops reached on the Somme battlefield after four months of heavy fighting. We leave the Somme mid-afternoon, heading back to Zeebrugge and the overnight ferry.

Day 4 (Monday, 30th May [Bank Holiday in UK]) - After breakfast *, travel from Hull back to Lancashire, arriving around lunchtime. [* Breakfast extra on the ferry].

The Cost of the trip is £219 per person sharing a twin / double cabin and room. The cost includes all coach travel in an air-conditioned coach, travel and cabin on the ferry from Hull to Zeebrugge and an en-suite room in the 3 ★ Mecure hotel in the French market town of Arras ('English' breakfast included). Meals, drinks and refreshment on the ferry and at other times are not included. The trip will be fully escorted throughout, with an experienced guide (Steve Williams - WW1 Historian & Author and Secretary of the Chorley Pals Memorial).

[Please note: Due to time constraints, it will not be possible to include visits to sites, cemeteries or memorials not on the itinerary].
